

Environmental Policy 2015-16

Ri-con Contractors Pty Ltd (Ri-con) is a skilled and experienced remote area construction Company with an understanding of, and a respect for, the environment and the culturally sensitive surrounds for within which it works; this is mind, the Company conducts its business activities in a responsible and ecologically sustainable manner.

Because the Company works in environmentally-sensitive remote regions and also urbanised areas throughout Australia, recognition of the effects and impact of its work on the environment are profoundly considered before undergoing works. Accordingly Ri-con Contractors activities are planned and conducted to minimise, and where possible avoid, adverse effects and impacts on the natural environment, thereby protecting it for future generations.

Ri-con Contractors commits to complying with the relevant environmental legislation of the States and Territory within which it works and educating its workers and subcontractors on environmental issues and the effect and impact their work has on the environment.

The environmental commitment is demonstrated through the Company continually improving its:

- Inclusion of environmental aspects in its planning processes.
- Consideration of the environmental outcomes of its work in equal with quality, cost and safety are considered. This is achieved through Project specific environmental risk assessments and control processes.
- Protection of the natural environment, preservation of biodiversity, prevention of pollution, and minimisation of waste.
- Monitoring and review of environmental awareness to clients, workers, subcontractors, and other stakeholders working with the Ri-con.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'John Jenkins', is positioned above the printed name.

John Jenkins
Managing Director

10th of March 2015

